DAVE KINCHELOE

AND HIGH SUGAR

Local Paper Quotes Part Of Speech Of Misrepresentation.

The Hartford Herald, in its current issue, publishes what purports to be a quotation from a speech of Dave Kincheloe in which it is stated that the failure of the Congress in session during the year 1919, to pass a law authorizing President Wilson, as head of the Sugar Equalization Board, to purchase the sugar crop of 1919 is responsible for the high price of sugar prevailing during the year 1920. We quote a brief excerpt from the Hon. Dave's purported statement: "The Lever Food Control Act which was passed by a Democratic Congress during the war under which the sugar corporation operated, contained a provision ending the existence of the corporation when the armistice was signed."

It will be noted that Mr. Kincheloe is quoted as saying that the existence of the Lever Act ended when the armistice was signed. The act in truth provides in section 24 thereof that it "shall cease to be in effect when the existing state of war between the United States and Germany shall have terminated, and the fact and date of such termination shall be ascertained and proclaimed by the President." The President has not even to this day ascertained the fact of the end of the war and proclaimed the same, as or in the manner contemplated by the Constitution of the United States or in any manner. In fact, and in truth, a state of war still exists between the United States and Germany. Congress undertook, just before its recent adjournment to end such state of war, and to this end passed an act so declaring, but President Wilson vetoed the act. So it will be observed that President Wilson, as head of the Sugar Equalization Board, had full and complete authority to purchase the 1919 crop of Cuban Sugar and deliberately refused to do so. The net result of such refusal has been the fleecing of the people of the United States of $1,500,000,000 by sugar thieves and grafters. No it is not true that the unreasonable high price of sugar has resulted from any dereliction of Congress. It resulted from the dereliction of President Wilson and on account of the action of his Attorney General, A. Mitchell Palmer, in consenting and agreeing that the sugar growers of Louisiana might charge 17 and 18 cents for raw sugar of their production. It resulted from the near criminal action of A. Mitchell Palmer, chief law officer of the United States.

VIOLENT MALICE.

A silly and vicious attempt has and is being made to cast odium and reflections upon Senator Hartung, the Republican candidate for President, with a certain class, by sneaking a type-written article around, purporting to give the genealogy of Hartung, which would indicate that he was largely of negro descent. We do not deem that such a dastardly and dirty scheme is worthy of any notice whatever. It only proves to what lowbrow methods some will lead themselves when in the last throes of agony, fighting for a losing cause in reckless desperation. We have been told that Senator Beckham while here Tuesday advised them to let up on that stuff.

"A CHALLENGE"

The Hartford Herald this week, issues a challenge to the Republican to publish the Covenant of the League of Nations. We wonder why it did not include the Reservations adopted by the Senate also. We could not possibly publish the entire document in this issue on account of the lack of space, which the Herald is aware of, neither do we deem it of sufficient importance, owing to the fact that most every individual who cares to read the document has done so heretofore. We have, however, published several articles to which the Senate passed reservations, and I ask the Herald if it ever published the articles together with the reservations therefor, or to, if not why? We are perfectly willing to take quinine straight, but when you mix strychnine with it we refuse the whole mess. We would take ants, but please keep eroton oil out of it. That is just what Wilson did and that is the dose you would cram down the American people without giving them a chance to see what the majority of their Representatives, duly commissioned, would substitute for the deadly concoctions. If Dr. Wilson and his followers would have consented to eliminate some of the poison from the apparently good medicine the League would have been ratified long ago and all of this turmoil escaped.

HAS IT BOLTED?

The Hartford Herald has been displaying a picture of Harding in its front window, notwithstanding the fact the said litho has the likeness of a half dozen negroes surrounding that of Senator Harding. If it has not deserted the cause of Cox and the League, why take so much pains to display the card? Think of it, the Hartford Herald displaying the picture of negroes, and Harding too, in one of its front windows, from which it was forced to remove that of Cox in order to show it. Did you ever think you would live to see such a disgraceful sight? "Hain't it ornful Mabel?" We imagine that the Herald Editor got mad when he found out that James M. Cox, Democratic Candidate for President, by his own statement, acknowledged that he had taught a school exclusively for negroes, and put the picture of these negroes and Harding in his front window to show proper resentment.

SMALL AREA SWEEPED BY VIOLENT STORM

Much Damage Done Near Narrows By Tornado Originating In Neighborhood.

A small section of Ohio County, near Dundee and Narrows, known locally as the Cedar and Oak Grove community, was visited by a violent and destructive tornado about 5:25 o'clock, Tuesday evening. A number of dwelling houses and other buildings were completely demolished. Some of those losing property were as follows: Buck Thomas, dwelling, all out buildings, one horse killed; two more, it is said, will likely die; Redford Benn, dwelling and other buildings; Foster Thomas, dwelling, an other losses; James Galloway, house barn and one horse; Bob Shultz, Ed Foreman and John Neighbors each lost their barns. The Mill building in Narrows and several other buildings were unroofed, as well as quite a lot of other damage done. The storm appeared to do but little damage at near passing Narrows, as only a few buildings were shaken up, with a few unroofed east of that place, so far as could be learned.

Those who observed the cloud's formation say that it took place at the Catholic Church, in fact the church was apparently within the formation, though no damage was done to the building, but the next buildings east of that point were completely demolished.

The Case Summed Up.

BY WARREN G. HARDING

In asking the suffrage of the American electorate this year, the Republican party has in mind both the record of service from its beginnings, whereof it is very proud, and the vision of opportunity for service in the future, which its spokesmen have presented during this campaign. We are asking that a great responsibility be imposed upon us. It is a responsibility that must be measured by both the gravity of the crisis that confronts the world and the incapacity with which the present administration has met the problems of the last few years. Enormous as is the responsibility we seek, our party has no thought of evading, for it never has been guilty of that.

Democratic economic and administrative policies had brought this country to the danger of disaster before the outbreak of the war in Europe. The vast expansion of our export trade and demands upon our producing facilities, which came with the war, saved us from immediate precipitation of that disaster. But that phase has now passed and nothing but a return to those constructive and progressive policies which have always characterized the Republican administration can save us from early realization of the danger that confronted us at the middle of 1914.

From the beginning of the war in Europe the Democratic administration steadfastly refused to prepare for the national defense in case we should be involved. In 1916 when it was apparent to most people that our country was in imminent danger of being drawn into the struggle, the Democratic party made its campaign on the boast that it had kept us out of war, and the promise to continue keeping us out. Thus when we found ourselves at last in the struggle, we were utterly unready for it, and our participation cost us immeasurably more than it should have cost.

An administration that, when all the world was in conflagration, refused to realize the importance of preparedness, of course could not be expected to realize while we were at war the necessity of preparing for peace. So we entered into peace quite as unready for it as we had been for war. Our economies were disorganized, our debt enormous, our foreign commerce devoted largely to supplying the necessities of war.

Instead of setting itself to remedying these conditions, the administration has devoted itself, from the day of the armistice, to promoting a project of world reorganization in which America should bear the largest responsibilities of guaranteeing a new scheme of things. Instead of making legal peace as soon as actual peace had been won, the American people alone of all the warring nations, were denied by their government the privilege of a return to the legal status of peace and to the enjoyment of those rights which they had temporarily surrendered under the circumstances of war. So long as war was on Republicans upheld the hands of the administration, forgetting party considerations, and gave their vote in support of war measures far more generously than did their political opponents. Yet an autocratic administration repaid this loyalty with the demand, in the campaign of 1918, that Republicans be removed from every position of influence and power! That demand the country rejected. It was the first time in the history of this nation that an administration had been defeated in the midst of a foreign war. That defeat would have been ample admonition to any administration not entirely absorbed in its own peculiar policies and purposes. But it apparently was unheeded by the powers at Washington. Neglecting the acute domestic situation, the administration suddenly conceived an interest in foreign affairs that contrasted impressively with its lack of concern for them in the period before we were drawn into the war.

So, while immediate and practical concern were being neglected, while reconstruction and reorganization of our own country were forgotten, the administration was devoting itself to the chimera of a world reorganization. The Republican Congress, that had been elected in the autumn of 1918, attempted to, and did, initiate measures to set us on the right track once more. It devised a budget system in the hope of putting an end to the treasury deficit and bringing economy and system into our national finances. But the President vetoed that measure. The administration went right on spending vast sums in excess of our revenues, offering no constructive inspiration or leadership, apparently forgetting our domestic difficulties in its engrossment with the chimera of world reconstruction.

This, in a word, is the record of the administration, now about to retire from power, which seeks to have its policies perpetuated. The country will decline to give its confidence and its mandate to that party or those policies. It remembers that the Republican party fought the Civil War and afterward restored and unified the nation. It believes that the Republican party is capable of repeating that service, and because it so believes, it is going to return the Republican party to power.

The nation is determined to be done with autocracy under the mere guise of democratic forms; it is determined that there shall be no return to the old order. The plain people who, on the whole, have been raised to a new and higher level, are not only convinced that they are entitled to remain on this new plane, but that they must rely upon the constructive abilities of the Republican party to keep them there. It is our purpose to accomplish exactly this. While we will oppose every suggestion of revolution or disintegration, we do stand for every measure of evolution and development that tends to carry the masses of the nation forward and upward.

During the campaign now about ending, the Republican party has proposed in its platform, and developed in the utterances of its leaders a program which contemplates equal opportunity for all. It recognizes the vices of exploitation and profiteering. It has declared for wise and practicable measures looking to co-operation in production and in marketing. It recognizes that, in all measures to preserve equality of opportunity, there must be a recognition of the fact that greed and cunning must be held in check if we are to insure that true character and worth shall be given every opportunity to share in the advantages that the community can extend to its members.

The Republican party purposes in the realm of international affairs such an association of nations as will most effectively further the aspiration for world-wide and permanent peace without sacrificing any part of the independence of the American nation. It believes that America can and must bear its full part in the responsibilities of the world, but it always believes that America alone must decide what that part shall be. It goes to the people assured that they will recognize its superiority as an instrumentality of administration, and that in the election now impending they will give it the certificate of their confidence and trust.

AN ABSURDITY.

Under the above caption the Hartford Herald in the current issue would have its readers believe that Section (c) of Article 23 of the League Covenant was inserted at the behest of a woman's committee. When in truth the women were protesting against all such traffic in women and children, they wanted it suppressed your League undertakes merely to supervise. In support of our contention we heretofore reproduced the resolutions offered, as the Herald states, by the women, and if after a careful reading of same if you don't decide that we are right we'll eat the section without salt. Here are the resolutions:

"Whereas, the countries represented at the Peace Conference must recognize not only the rights of nations but also of individual citizens:

"Whereas, the special measures taken (by the League mind you) under the pretext of public safety with regard to women who are or are suspected of being prostitutes achieve the degradation of human morals:

"Resolved, First, to suppress the sale of women and children; second, to respect and apply the principles of woman's liberty to dispose of herself in marriage; third, to suppress the traffic in women, girls and children, of both sexes, and its corollary of licensed disreputable houses."

Please read the resolution carefully. A protest is as plain as the open day sun. Observe that the word supervise is at no point used, on the contrary the word "SUPPRESS" is what they used, just as the Senate Reservations use it instead of supervise. Decide women, who is in the right, the reservations or the article as drawn by Wilson. We gave them both last week, exactly as they exist.

SENATOR BECKHAM

WAS HERE TUESDAY

Senator J. C. W. Beckham, Democratic nominee to succeed himself, spoke here Tuesday in his own behalf and of the Cox ticket. The Court House was well filled.

Mrs. John L. Woodbury and State Senator Charles Harris filled an engagement on behalf of the Democrats Saturday. Congressman T. U. Sisson, of Miss., had been billed and widely advertised as the headliner for this occasion but was not able to make the appointment and Harris was substituted. The audience on this occasion was composed of about 300 people and a brass band.

GEORGIA DEMOCRATS

REPUDIATE LEAGUE

Convention Instructs Senators To "Kill" Wilson's Pet Pact.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 25.—"Unalterable opposition" to the League of Nations is expressed in the platform adopted today by the Georgia State Democratic Convention and the state's senators are instructed to vote against the covenant. The platform, however, endorsed the candidacies of Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt for President and Vice President.

The platform represented a compromise between the ideas of Thomas E. Watson, nominee for the Senate, and Thomas W. Hardwick, gubernatorial nominee, and was adopted by unanimous vote. It did not endorse the Wilson administration and mentioned the President's name only incidentally.

"We hereby declare our unalterable opposition to the League of Nations brought back by President Wilson from Versailles," read the opening paragraph of the platform. In paragraph four, Georgia's senators are instructed to vote against the league in the following language:

"Whereas the people have thrice this year expressed their disapproval of the League of Nations, we instruct our senators in Congress to vote against its adoption."

Referring to Clark Howell, national Democratic committeeman from Georgia, the platform said:

"We regret that our Democratic national committeeman is holding the office to which the sovereign Democratic convention of this state selected another distinguished Georgian and Democrat; and while this convention is without legal remedy, we hereby condemn and denounce such interference with the choice of Democracy of this state as being wholly unjustifiable and undemocratic."

NEGRO EQUALITY.

Why is it that charged negro equality makes one unfit to be voted for by the so-called and self-styled elite, while acknowledged business relations and association with negroes by another does not in any manner disqualify or cast reflection? The Herald has been full of "Nigger Bitten Stuff" and all sorts of charges have been made upon the stump and off, and all, who have thus delighted themselves we would respectfully refer to the following facts: In the October Number of the New Success Magazine reproduces a personal interview with both Senator Harding and Governor Cox. The Magazine is non-partisan and without political bias. On page 31, column 1, among other things there appears this statement, "All this time he (Governor Cox), kept up with his own studies and, also taught a night school for negroes in Middletown, (Ohio). And yet some people who live in houses of glass, never tire of flinging mud.

MRS. MARY J. BUNGER.

Mrs. Mary Jane Bunker, widow of George W. Bunker, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davidson, Hartford, late Monday evening after being an invalid for quite a long time, though death was due to pneumonia. Brief funeral services were conducted at the home of Mr. Davidson, by Rev. Russell Walker, after which the remains were interred in Oakwood cemetery.

Mrs. Bunker was in her 84th year, having been born Sept. 11, 1837. At the age of 16 she was married to Geo. W. Bunker, who preceded her in death, nearly 5 years. Not long after Mr. Bunker's death Miss Mary, their only child, died, since which date Mrs. Bunker has been in the constant care of Mrs. Davidson, who ministered unto her needs as a daughter would unto a mother.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank each and all of those persons who so graciously rendered assistance to us, in the death and burial of Mrs. Mary J. Bunker. The floral tributes were especially appreciated.

Sincerely,
MR. and MRS. J. E. DAVIDSON.

COX'S VARIED ROLES

By SCOTT C. BONE

At "one" with Woodrow Wilson and for Wilsonism and all it implies, without reservation, yet beseeching a weary, tax-burdened country to elect him President. That's Candidate Cox.

An exponent, for campaign purposes, of progressive thought and lofty ideals, yet nominated and backed by Boss Murphy, Boss Brennan, Boss Taggart and Ed Moore! That's Candidate Cox.

Wettest of the wet aspirants for President, save Edwards, by Bryan's appraisal, in a Democratic Convention dominated by the wets, yet now endeavoring to convince an arid country that he is dry and ever has been a dry! That's Candidate Cox.

Charging that a corruption fund of $15,000,000 was being raised to buy up the Presidency, and then, at safe distance from the seat of inquiry, raising the amount to $20,000,000, yet without producing an iota of evidence in support of his wild charges. That's Candidate Cox.

A machine-made politician, vouched for by Tammany, yet pretending to have been given the light in 1912 as a disciple of Theodore Roosevelt and William Johnson! That's Candidate Cox.

Arraigning the press for not taking him seriously by printing his speeches, yet knowing, as a newspaper man, that the cost of print paper under this Administration is too high to give space to mere words! That's Candidate Cox.

Crying out against a mythical "Senate oligarchy," because the precious Wilson covenant failed of ratification, yet with full knowledge that hostility of Democratic Senators rendered ratification impossible! That's Candidate Cox.

A mild, dodging critic of Burlesonism and Palmerism, when confronted by hecklers out West, yet committed unqualifiedly to Burlesonism and Palmerism by the Democratic platform! That's Candidate Cox.

An apologist for the sinking of the Lusitania, a pacifist of the Newton Baker stripe as clouds gathered, and intervening on behalf of a rich slacker when war came on, yet today appealing for the support of American sons who went to the front! That's Candidate Cox.

Dry to the dries, wet to the wets, spiritual to the spiritual, all things to all crowds, in the face of the G. O. P. landslide clearly impending, yet never daring to deviate in his devotion to Wilsonism or the Wilson League by the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t"! That's Candidate Cox!

And, finally—an acrobatic Ajax defying the lightning of public disapproval! That's Candidate Cox.

VOTERS ENCOUNTER NO DIFFICULTY CHOOSING BETWEEN CANDIDATES.

Washington.—The American people are carefully making a close comparison right now between Senator Harding and Governor Cox. The choice between these two men and the policies they represent is not a difficult one and the writer honestly believes the American people have their minds made up and are ready to vote.

Senator Harding and Governor Cox are almost diametrically opposed to each other in everything. Senator Harding stands for Americanism and Governor Cox espouses internationalism. Harding is cautious about what kind of a league he and his party goes into while Cox wants to wade right into the European league as proposed by President Wilson.

Senator Harding is careful, deliberate, dignified, sincere, serious and constructive, while Governor Cox is crafty, quick to seize upon any kind of an artifice; he is bombastic and impulsive.

Senator Harding has been a lifetime accumulator of a moderate fortune while Governor Cox jumped into the multimillionaire class in a few years. Harding lives modestly and quietly in an unostentatious manner while Governor Cox lives in luxury on a large estate in a home costing half a million dollars.

Warren G. Harding will be fifty-five years of age on Election Day. He is old enough to know and young enough to do. His rival has not yet reached even the years of discretion.

Only 14, But Is Very Busy Boosting Harding

Here is a picture of James Duncan MacGregor, Jr., age fourteen, who is the publisher of The Weekly Press of Stamford, Conn. In a recent issue of his newspaper he said:

"The editor of this paper wishes

JAMES DUNCAN MAC GREGOR, JR.

to say the object of The Weekly Press is to publish facts, and do my part in helping the United States get into office good, honest men, men who love their country first of all. As I am only fourteen years old, I cannot vote, but I appeal to all voters to cast their ballot for Senator Warren G. Harding and Governor Calvin Coolidge."

James numbers his ancestors among the signers of the Declaration of Independence and always has been a reader of biographies of great men. Roosevelt is his hero. Harding is his idea of the kind of a man the country should have for President.

BAKER'S ADVISOR OUT FOR HARDING.

Washington.—Major Benedict Crowell, Mr. Baker's former Assistant Secretary of War, warm admirer of President Wilson, is the latest distinguished man to declare in an interview that he is in favor of the election of Harding and Coolidge and a Republican Congress at the polls in November. Major Crowell goes so far as to say that he is in favor of the league of nations but he prefers to take his chances on getting the league with Senator Harding rather than with Governor Cox.

"Now that President Wilson is retiring from active political life," said Major Crowell, "it is wise for his supporters to pause and take stock of the situation. I have always favored a league of nations but the Democratic party has no monopoly on the league. Indeed, the present Democratic administration has failed on this subject in spite of the fact that 75 per cent of the Senate were in favor of some kind of a league."

"It seems evident that Governor Cox is making many promises regarding the league which he may not be able to fulfill."

Senator Harding, observation leads us to believe, has created a strong impression of earnestness, sincerity and high sense of duty. His utterances are marked by a studied moderation; he exhibits no arrogance of opinion, and has made no extravagant promises of a millennium to be created by proclamation; he seeks rather to express the national spirit than to impose a doctrine of political infallibility. And there is an unmistakably a growing view that Governor Cox is a shifty opportunist, superficial in thought, reckless in appeal and irresponsible in statements.—Philadelphia North American.

FARMERS RESENT SLUMP IN PRICES

Wheat "futures" have sunk well below the $2 level; this means that wheat buyers are offering less than $2 a bushel for wheat to be delivered in December. Corn on a similar basis is commanding only 55 cents or so, while oats and other cereals have dropped correspondingly. Big breaks in flour and feed prices have resulted, though it will take some time before the full effects of the reductions are felt in the retail market.

The wheat farmers are up in arms at the situation. They have expected to sell their wheat for $3 a bushel or so, and they figure that this will only just about allow them to get out even. The farmers' associations are urging that wheat be held until the $3 price is forthcoming. But there is such a large visible supply of wheat that this plan is not likely to work. The Western farmers complain that it is the wheat gamblers who are depressing the price of wheat. These gamblers they say, never really buy a bushel of wheat but only speculate in it for "future delivery" when everyone knows that no delivery is to be made. Demands are made that congress shall put a stop to such gambling in grain. Meantime many of the farmers are storing their grain in every available place, even filling their parlors with it, in the hope that prices will improve.

Practically every other farm product is in the same boat with wheat. The stock raisers are desperate; they declare that their business is going to be ruined and they are appealing to Washington for relief. Potatoes are bringing such small prices that it is not worth while to market them. The various co-operative agencies which have been organized for the purpose of securing higher prices for the producers are forced to admit that they are unable to find a market. They are making lame excuses to the farmers and telling them that they "must expect to take the rain with the sunshine."

The dairy industry is in a state of collapse. Not only are milk prices falling below the profit point but the public are refusing to buy milk and milk products at any price; they have been weaned away from them by the high prices they have been

FORDSON

TRADE MARK

There are many Tractors clamoring for the patronage of the farmer. The very air is charged with the noise of claims. One would think that all the farmer had to do was to buy a Tractor and he would enter into the Millennium.

Well, consider this fact—there are a great many different makes of Tractors. Tractors have been on the American market for twenty years. In that time some three hundred thousand Tractors have been sold to the farmers in the United States. The Fordson Tractor has only been on the market two years, and in that time more than one hundred thousand Fordson Tractors have been sold to the farmers of the United States.

Two and two makes four. Two and two always will make four. If the Fordson Tractor had not delivered more good work, more satisfactory work, more economical work, than any other farm Tractor, it would not have sold in the ratio of anywhere from five and more to one. "The proof of the pudding is in the eating." The proof of the superior merits of the Fordson Tractor is in its larger sale and use.

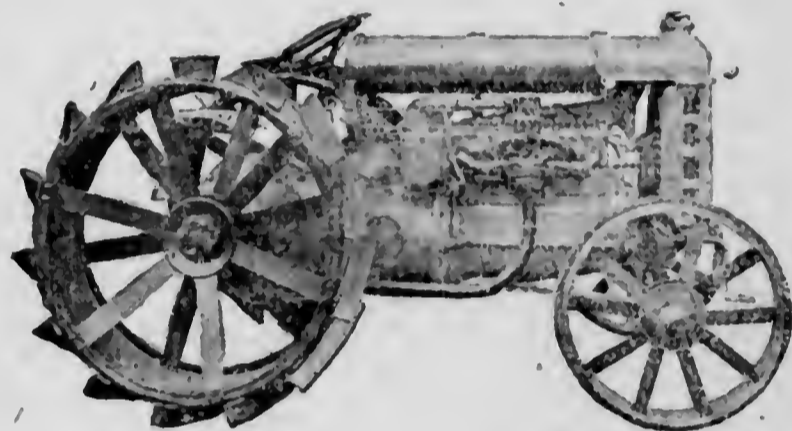

The Fordson Tractor then asks you to buy it because of what it has done for your neighbors. It asks you to buy it on its merits. It asks you to buy it, Mr. Farmer, because you have use for it every day in the year. All the uses for the Fordson Tractor have not yet been uncovered because new places where machine power can take the place of human power, where machine power can supplant horse and mule-power, are being found every week, and wherever such discovery occurs, the Fordson Tractor will fill the bill more satisfactorily than any other form of power.

The Fordson is simple in design, and it is very strongly made of the highest quality of iron and steel. It is the product of the greatest mechanical genius the world has ever known, and it is most economical in first cost and after expense. The Fordson Tractor on your farm will increase the value of every foot of ground in that farm. It will put more dollars and cents into every hour you put into the farm.

Now why not have a Fordson right away? Take up the subject with us. Come in and get the details, and all the particulars. It is only a matter of time until you buy a farm Tractor—that is sure. So don't put it off when it means money to you to act promptly.

Beaver Dam Auto Company

forced to pay.

Sugar is still on the toboggan slide. The wholesale price at this writing is 11 cents, and still lower prices are predicted. Here too the buying public have balked; they found they had been tricked by the sugar people and the government into paying outrageous prices and now they are using only a fraction of the sugar they would normally use. It is estimated that the last sugar crop yielded Cuba alone a net profit of a billion and a third dollars; but now the Cuban planters face disaster as the new crop will have to be dumped at less than half what the last one brought them.

Stocks of sugar in this country are enormous and the holders are being forced to throw them on the market, as they can't secure the money to carry them longer. The drop in sugar prices so far has caused a shrinkage of a third of a billion dollars. The people who are being hurt are crying out for "relief."

Many of the middlemen have made contracts for large amounts of sugar at wholesale prices up to 22 cents a pound. The refiners are now insisting that the buyers shall take this sugar and pay the prices they agreed to pay. Some of the sugar banks in Cuba and this country are on the point of failure.

This whole question as to contracts and future prices is arousing earnest discussion. Many big concerns, such as the auto companies for instance, make a practice of guaranteeing that their prices will not be reduced within, say, six months. The effect of such guarantees of course is to keep prices artificially inflated.

The Western farmers, it is claimed, have lost two billion dollars by the recent price reductions, and the Southern planters say they have lost a billion on cotton alone, to say nothing of peanuts and other crops. Cotton seed and peanuts are bringing such low prices that the planters are being urged to use them for fertilizer and feed rather than try to sell them.

The latest government estimate puts the cotton crop at 12,123,000 bales, or nearly a million bales more than last year. Cotton is now bringing less than 25 cents, against 40 cents a short time ago. The planters are striking for 40 cents and are calling on the federal reserve banks to supply them with the capital necessary to finance the crop at that price.

The administration at Washington is hostile to any such plan as this and it gives a warning that money cannot be advanced to allow anyone to hold products for war prices. The farmers of the South are holding meetings and denouncing the government authorities. They declare that the federal reserve system has been used to allow favored interests to speculate and profiteer, so that there is no money left to finance legitimate business.

Senator Smith, of N. C., Dem., declared: "I don't believe the law gives any official the right to say what kind of business shall have credit and what shall not." He added that if the present situation is allowed to continue the farmers will all unite in a general strike and will say to the public: "Here is our price. We demand our rights and we will not loosen up one pound of meat, wheat or cotton till we get them." Dr. W. J. Spillman, former head of the farm-market bureau of the agricultural department, charged that Secretary of the Treasury Houston and the federal reserve board are conspiring to force the price of wheat down.

In all the cotton states the "night-riders" are terrorizing the country with the object of keeping cotton off the market in order to force the price up. Warnings are posted telling the planters not to pick their cotton or they will be dealt with severely. Gins are warned not to accept any cotton, and stores not to do any business until cotton goes back to 40 cents.

Many gins and stores have been burned and millions of dollars' worth of cotton destroyed. In some cases men who have been guarding property have been killed by the night-riders. Governors of several states have issued statements denouncing the outrages and giving warning that they must stop. Rewards are being offered for the arrest of offenders.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.

NEWSPAPER MERGERS.

The shortage and high cost of paper is forcing more extensive changes in the journalistic world than have ever known before. Recently F. A. Munsey purchased the New York Herald and combined it with the Sun; but now he has separated the two and will issue the Herald as a morning paper and the Sun as an evening one. Cyrus Curtis, head of the great Curtis Pub. Co., of Philadelphia has just bought the Philadelphia Press and has merged it into the Public Ledger. The Press was established 63 years ago and it had an honored place in American journalism; it now disappears from the scene. Many other papers are being merged over the country. In some cases papers that have long been enemies in politics are being combined. Many papers and periodicals which have no particular reason for existence are giving up altogether.

If your child starts in its sleep, grinds its teeth while sleeping, picks at the nose, has a bad breath, fickle appetite, pale complexion, and dark rings under the eyes; it has worms; and as long as they remain in the intestines, that child will be sickly. White's Cream Vermifuge clears out the worms, strengthens the stomach and bowels and puts the little one on the road to health and cheerfulness. Price 30c per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

AUSTRIANS LEGALIZE BIGAMY

The government of Austria has taken steps to legalize marriages where one of the contracting parties has failed to secure divorce. The Austrian law permits of no divorce, especially to Catholics, and it was to get around this situation that the new step was taken. The measure has created a storm of protest, especially in the clerical press.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

SENATOR HARDING PROPOSES WELFARE POST IN CABINET

Tells 12,000 Women He Favors Department in Defense of Mothers, Childhood and Public Health.

TO ADVANCE SOCIAL JUSTICE.

Emphasizes Need of Safeguarding Women on American Farms.
Stands for Enforcement of Law

Marion, O.—The creation of a Federal Department of Public Welfare to function in defense of maternity, childhood and public health was proposed by Senator Harding in a speech on social justice to 5,000 women who came to his front porch from all points of the compass.

Such a department, said Senator Harding, must "involve the fearful results of bureaucracy. There can be no more efficient way of advancing a humanitarian program," he said, "than by adapting the machinery of our Federal Government to the purposes we desire to attain. While others may have their eyes fixed upon some particular piece of legislation or more particular policy of social justice which calls for the sympathetic interest of us all, I say, without hesitation, that our primary consideration must be the machinery of administration, and that when the time comes for us to reorganize our administrative government in Washington we must all stand together for the creation of a Department of Public Welfare."

"I pledge myself today," he said, "to support with all that is in me whatever practical policy of social welfare and social justice can be brought forward by the combined wisdom of all Americans. Nothing can concern America, and nothing can concern me as an American, more deeply than the health, the happiness and the enlightenment of every fellow American."

Must Avoid Paternalism.

"The social justice that I conceive is not paternalism. It would be easy to make it so, and dangerous indeed to the best spirit that Americans can have—the spirit of expressing by the individual free will one's own merits, capacity and worth. We do not want government to suppress that expression of free will, even by benevolence, but we do mean to preserve in America an equal opportunity and a preparedness for self-expression therein, even though we use the government to do it."

"I believe that there is no step more practical, no step which will mean more to the growth of America's social welfare; no step which will guarantee better America's social justice, than one which I propose to you."

Dangers to Be Avoided.

"I have no doubt that there will be some who will find in this proposal cause for culling me an extremist, but when we have a task to do, which has been dictated by our conscience and approved by our wisdom, let us straightway find the way to do it. I do not say this without a word of caution. I recognize certain dangers which are always presented when government undertakes large and detailed tasks."

Tasks of Social Justice.

Senator Harding pointed out the necessity of going forward upon a sure footing and declared:

"When making the proposal for a department of public welfare to America, I am aware that I have made a step in advance of any platform."

"We all know that we face tasks of social justice, which we must undertake with dispatch and efficiency. Who can suggest one of these tasks which can supersede in our hearts, or in the rank which foresight and wisdom will give that of the protection of our maternity?"

"The protection of the motherhood of America can not be accomplished until the state and the nation have enacted and, by their example, have enforced customs, which protect womanhood itself. I know full well that there are women who insist that women shall be treated upon the same basis that men are treated."

Senator Harding discussed the need of adequate protection for women in industry and expressed his belief, in the wisdom of an eight-hour day for women workers. He emphasized the need of safeguarding the women on American farms. He proposed putting the Children's Bureau under the suggested Department of Public Welfare, and urged prevention of abuses of child labor.

"I must not fail," Senator Harding went on, "to speak to you today of one of the measures of social justice and social welfare not often catalogued in this manner, but perhaps more important than any we have considered. I refer to the enforcement of law. It will not be my business when elected to decide what laws shall be. It will be legitimate for me to invoke public opinion for their enactment, but such a call to public opinion must be based more upon the duty of the Executive of the nation to give facts to the people than upon his desire to give opinion, theory and propaganda. The enforcement of the law is an Executive responsibility and must be undertaken by the Executive without regard for his personal approval or disapproval of the law, which it has been the people's will to enact."

12,000 Women Hear Harding's Address on Social Justice

Twelve thousand women from all parts of the United States went to Marion to hear Senator Harding's address on social justice in which he urged the creation of a Federal Department of Public Welfare to function in defense of maternity, childhood and public health.

New Young Americans Learn of Nation's Obligations to Them

Twelve thousand women from all parts of the country travelled to Marion to hear Senator Harding's noteworthy address on social justice in which he proposed a Federal Department of Public Welfare to function in defense of maternity, childhood and public health. Here is seen Senator Harding and Mrs. Harding surrounded by a group of girls of foreign parentage from Chicago, who sang America as part of the ceremonies. The girls are dressed in their native costumes.

PRaises HARDING'S WELFARE PROGRAM

"Senator Harding's address on social justice in which he proposed a Federal Department of Public Welfare, is the longest and most practical proposal yet taken by any man of official responsibility," declares Hon. Simeon D. Fess, representative in Congress from Ohio.

"His program goes directly to the core of the problem and demands protection, first, of motherhood, by safeguarding maternity, then of childhood, by proper legislation, and through these, the national health against invasion of disease through low standards of morals and commercial aggression of industry, which exposes to epidemics," he said. "He recognizes social justice not as a woman's problem, but as a general problem, in which women play a larger part. Hence, his specific demands that women be placed on various boards, Federal and State, which have to deal with problems of employment, labor adjustment and wherever national health is to be determined. This concern must extend to women in agriculture, as well as in industries."

"Senator Harding's sound common sense prevents his dealing in general theories at the expense of practical results. Alive to the dangers of bureaucracy, against which he warns, he asks for a reorganization of our departments at Washington which will be one of his earliest tasks, and recommends the creation of a department of Public Welfare, to have directions of the problem of social justice. This will prevent duplication of agencies by uniting a half dozen bureaus now doing a haphazard work into one responsible and responsive department of the government. This step carries a program of social justice from the stage of theoretical speculation to that of practical execution, and the country can expect immediate action along practical lines."

GOVERNOR SPROUL SAYS WOMEN NOT IN FAVOR OF COX

"Women voters are not for Cox," says Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania and the reasons are not far to find. Governor Cox has alienated the affections of great masses of American women. In the first place, it is generally conceded that his intimate friends knew that in his heart he did not want woman's suffrage and that his statements in favor of this measure were only for political effect.

There are a great many travelling men in this country. They are, as a class, constructionists of a high order. Their intelligent optimism has often held a merchant up just the breaking point helping save his business. These travelling men have devoted wives; the most of them take a great interest in what their husbands are doing. Cox lost what friends he may have had among these good people by his amazingly stupid attack on commercial travelling and the travelling man.

LAUDS HARDING'S WELFARE PROGRAM

Marion, O.—Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, was the spokeswoman for thousands of women industrial workers and women interested in problems of public welfare who gathered here to listen to Senator Harding's speech on "Social Justice."

Mrs. Robins, who is president of the National Women's Trade Union League, said:

"We have come knowing well that we represent but one of many groups

of citizens in America, with necessarily divergent interests, and we understand we must find the way so to relate our various needs and hopes and aspirations that out of such inter-relationship may come the realization of America's ideal, for first and above all we want to serve our country."

"We have always known," said Mrs. Robins, "that certain groups of women are vitally interested in social and industrial questions—but we did not know that the great mass of women, all sorts of women, young and old, from the farms and from the cities—are also interested."

"What is it they see in the call to social justice? They see their opportunity to serve the nation in and through a program dealing with the vital issues with which they are at home, the protection of childhood, the care of mothers and babies, the safeguarding of women workers, the conservation of health and the needs of women on the farms."

"We have listened to a great speech, one of the few great speeches of a decade, and its effect will be far reaching."

Many are for Cox, says George Hurvay, because they are convinced that he will not keep his word. It is hard to conceive a harsher criticism of a Presidential candidate.—Wheeling (W. Va.) Intelligencer.

Tanlac Built Him Up So
Wonderfully His Friends
Are Now Taking It

"Although I have only taken four bottles of Tanlac, it has restored me to perfect health, and I have gained ten pounds in weight," said Floyd E. Whitman, 790 Sawyer St., Akron, Ohio, Inspector of the steam heating system for the Goodrich Tire and Rubber Co.

"I had been feeling all run-down for a year or more and my whole system seemed to be getting out of order, as the longer I went the worse I got," he continued. "My appetite was so poor I hadn't eaten a bite for breakfast in a year, and although my wife would fix a small lunch for me to carry with me to work, I always brought all or most of it back home in the afternoon. Even when I did manage to eat a little something it caused me to bloat up with gas until I could hardly breathe and I would be in misery for hours afterwards. I could get but little sleep, and always got up feeling as tired and worn out as when I went to bed. I just had to drag myself around at my work, and it was only by using great will power I managed to stay on the job at all. Finally, I got so had off that often while at work I would get weak and nervous all of a sudden, become stungery and just have to stop and rest a while before I could go on again. In fact, I was in such a bad fix I was just about ready to give up and go to bed when Tanlac came to my rescue."

"The boys at the plant saw the condition I was in, and as several of them had taken Tanlac with remarkable results, they advised me to try it. Well sir, I commenced getting better right away, and now my improvement has been so great that all the boys in my department at the Goodrich plant who felt like they needed a little building up have taken Tanlac, and it has helped them so much, too, that about all we talk about outside of our work, is Tanlac. Why, I feel at least twenty years younger, and am in such good shape it is hard for me to realize I ever had anything wrong with me. I have regained my strength so that my work is actually a pleasure, and I have such a good appetite my wife jokingly says I am about to eat us out of house and home. I think Tanlac is the grandest medicine in the world and I am always recommending it to others."

Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean; in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr.; and in Melbury by S. J. Tichenor.—Advertisement.

WORLD'S LARGEST SAWS.

Manufacturers in this country are producing big specially-built circular saws for cutting big trees into shingle blocks, which are believed to be the largest in existence. They measure nine feet in diameter, have 190 teeth and weigh almost 800 pounds. When rotating at full speed these saws travel 130 miles an hour, at their circumference.

CONSIDERING UNION WITH GERMANY

The Austrian national assembly has called for a plebiscite on the union of Austria with Germany, and it appears that many consider the move necessary in order that Austria may survive. There is a widespread sentiment in the two countries for a pan-German state. Before this can be brought about, however, it will be necessary to secure the approval of the great powers. Among these France stands in determined opposition, as it would make her enemy neighbor more powerful. Italy on the other hand is said to favor the union on the ground that the peace treaty has left Austria without resources for sustaining her population and meeting her obligations. Great Britain is said to be indifferent.

Besides the union with Germany another plan of fusion has been considered. This is a combination of Austria with the German kingdom of Bavaria, thus forming, with probably the Catholic Rheneland in addition, a Catholic German state. Either plan, to become effective must first receive the approval of the league of nations.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President—
WARREN G. HARDING.
For Vice President—
CALVIN COOLIDGE.
For U. S. Senator—
RICHARD P. ERNST.
For Congress—
JOHN P. HASWELL, JR.

Cox says the League was inspired by God. So was the "HE KEPT US OUT OF WAR," but we'll not say what Cox said.

Woodrow Wilson or some one else,
did keep Henry Ford's son, Col. T. H.
Roosevelt Sr., and a few fellows of this section out of war. Aside from those few, it was a fake.

According to the line of argument of some of the "pin-heads" of this section, should they discover that their colored cook was voting, the Democratic ticket they would immediately face about and vote the Republican ticket. That's what we call good sound principle?

Some dear-hearted and conscientious souls are condemning Governor Morrow for taking time off to devoted to the campaign. We thought that Cox was Governor of Ohio, but suppose that we were mistaken, because these same good people did not say anything about Cox being absent from duty. And we feel sure they would not damn one and let the other go free.

Vote early, Men and Women, and,
when you do, let America, the Sweet Land of Liberty, be uppermost in your thoughts, the Land that has never failed though it delayed somewhat, in the performance of duty in doing the right thing by the oppressed the down trodden, without being mortgaged in a Covenant to do so at the dictation of any outside or foreign influence.

It's a queer way about how things
take such strange turns, for instance,
last fall Democrats in a State campaign would not look at you and talk State affairs at all. No sir, it was the war, the League of Nations and such things. The Speaker here Saturday, appeared to love the other side of the question most, that is local and not the big things the people are most interested in now, and are to vote on, Tuesday.

Charlie Harris, in his speech here
Saturday also lambasted Governor
Morrow because he had not had Trip, Tige and Tray freed. Didn't you know Charles that those dorks had been busy for a long, long time trying to trail up that crowd of fellows who kept us out of war? They might have succeeded too, had it not been for the fact that the trail had been criss-crossed by the other, or same bunch who would keep the World out of war.

The insincerity of those who would appeal to prejudices for political gain, by silly talk about "Nigger Domination" in Kentucky, are making their plea for election on ratification of the League which gives Hedjaz, with a population of 300,000, (but little more than the City of Louisville) representation along with the United States. Hahl also has the same rights, and she has a population of 2,500,000 blacks, about equaling the population of Kentucky. Our representatives must sit in meetings with negroes from both of these Countries if the League is ever ratified. But to raise that question would do the Democrats but little if any good. So they are content to endeavor to stir up feeling here at home on the age-old and thread-bare "Nigger" question. It won't work, something solid must be given the voters this time.

Fathers! Mothers! You know exactly what you got four years ago when Wilson was elected. You also know just what you were promised would not happen if Wilson was elected, they kept you awake at night, with the repeated promise. Was it true? You must answer, you alone
The same crowd is again pleading for election, with a new promise in their mouths. Do you believe them this time? Again you must decide the question. If you desire that the blood of your sons be put up as collateral, yea, even mortgaged for the perpetuation of the territorial boundaries and political existence of all the countries of the world, as now established, then vote for this crowd that fooled you four years ago. If you are against mortgaging the sons of yourself and neighbors together with their posterity, to Europe, Asia and Africa, then vote to reject this business. Wilson, Cox and the Democrats are for it. Harding and the Republicans are against it. Choose, ye, as to whom you will first serve,
your home and homeland or those across the distant seas.

Wilson couldn't or wouldn't, at least, he didn't keep the United States out of war, and now they would have you believe that the League this same Wilson built will keep the world out of war. And Cox says "me too." It's our business, our duty, if you please,
to support the United States of America, the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Ohio County, the community in which we live and our own household, even to the last drop of our blood and the bottommost farthing. This we mean to do, always, when justice and the exigencies of the occasion require it. Under the Wilson League
we are called upon to make no distinction when it comes to matters of support, of life and death, as relates to our own beloved Country and the countries of other and foreign climes.
Are you ready to offer your self and your son as a pledge, as a hostage that no oppressed people may throw off the yoke of tyranny. We gained our independence by just that sort of method, are you ready to say that you will shed your blood that others may not do the same? That's what the Covenant that Wilson built means. It's a guarantee against encroachment from without and preservation of conditions now existing within.

Vote early. If you would substitute the dominion rule of the Woodrow Wilson League for good old fashioned Americanism, the kind of Government the Revolutionaries whipped the British for, you ought to vote for Cox, because he says he is in complete accord with Wilson. If you are for preserving our home rule,
the kind of Government our fathers and fore-fathers fought and died for,
then vote for Harding and Coolidge, because there can be no doubt as to what they stand for. Don't go off after strange Gods. Don't worship at the shrine that Woodrow built across the Ocean. For ourselves, we are content to bow only at the foot of that fashioned by Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and the other illustrious Patriots, that Shrine o'er which the STARS AND STRIPES float, the white of which symbolizes purity, and the red, to us is an ever reminder of the rivers of blood shed by the heroes of Valley Forge and Bunker Hill, that reasonable freedom should be the heritage of man in the Western World. Which shall it be, the Shrine for which the Stars and Stripes serve as a symbol and covering or shall it be that Tower of Babel that Woodrow built? Should Washington ask you on November 3, concerning your stewardship what will you be able to say. Will it be "Father Washington, I took your advice, I am for equal justice for all, but voted for entangl-ing alliances with none?"

Mister Charlie Harris, of Versailles, Ky., U. S. A., in separating himself from a speech at the Court House Saturday, on behalf of the Democrats, said the editor of this paper, in last week's issue misquoted and misinterpreted Section (c) of Article 23, wherein we gave said action exactly as given in the Covenant, together with the reservation adopted by the Senate. If we did not quote it exactly we will swallow Cox, Beckham, Johnson and the whole shooting match, if we die with ptomain poison in 24 hours thereafter. In order to make his charge complete, to clinch it even beyond the shadow of a doubt, he offered the following uncontrovertible, unimpeachable and profound argument in support thereof, viz: that the Good Lord entirely overlooked the Editor of the Republican when he passed the brains.

We have never prided ourself with having any too much of the gray matter, but we have barely enough to know that a charge of the lack of it in the other fellow, is a mighty poor argument. Yes sir-ree, a mighty lame argument against something that is down in plain English, and of which Harris has brains enough to be ashamed, yet not quite enough to enable him to answer, or explain in a sensible manner. As to the brain matter, I'll confess, the Lord did miss me, for there was a little fellow who was not eating at the first table, you know the little always had to wait, and when the dish was passed to us
there was nothing much left other than scraps of monkey brains, so we had them reserved for the little, freckled-faced urchin who had to wait. After the Lord had gotten thru crumming the scattering scraps amounting to about one-tenth of one grain, into the brat's nut, he named him Charlie Harris, and planted him in Versailles and this is the same thing that wandered off to these parts, to fill the engagement of T. U.
Sisson, of Mississippi. We trust that Charlie arrived home safely, as his people have made no search for him.

Senator Charlie Harris, who made a speech here Saturday, supposedly in interest of the Democrats, charged that Governor Morrow had been guilty of appointing a number of persons to positions in our Charitable and Penal Institutions who were not residents of Kentucky. When, in truth, Harris knows, as does every other person with gumption sufficient to keep out of the fire, who reads or cares to know, that the Governor has nothing to do with the appointments whatever. Morrow promised that he would take the

was elected last fall upon the express charitable institutions out of politics, by the appointment of a strict Non-Partisan Board, which he did, and for which the Courier-Journal, Times and nearly every Democratic paper
within the State warmly congratulated him. He appointed the Board of Charities, who organized and elected a Chairman, who is a Democrat
in politics, Judge Hines, of Louisville. This Board selected an expert, a man with years of experience in just this line of work, a Mr. Byers, as Superintendent having general charge, as head of all State Institutions of that character. The Governor has nothing at all to do with the appointment of any one having to do with these institutions, other than the Board, which under the law and his promise, must be non-partisan. The Board endeavors to secure the best men possible to fill all of the positions, ignoring absolutely politics or a man's piece of residence, just as an individual would in the conduct of any sort of big business.

No sane man or woman would have it otherwise, except to get these institutions back into rotten politics, for the purpose of spoliation, to pull more denim cloth, "Armstrong Deals"
or you might reverse it and say
"Strong Arm Deals." Justice demands the employment of the best men and women to be had for these institutions. Would Harris change conditions, would he return to the old, rotten political system? Will his line of argument help Democrats November 2? Not with those who are for the good of the Charitable Institutions.

Open Your Eyes!

Kentucky Men and Women, We Must Awake to the Danger that Confronts
Our Homes and Our Country.

We must be rid of those who are gazing at the stars, and elect Americans whose feet are planted firmly on the soil of their native land.

It is not putting it too strongly to say that America is facing peril.

The waves stirred by the war have not receded. The whole world is in turmoil and trembles in uncertainty.

In America, industry, commerce and society are threatened by a wave of mental unrest.

High prices, business uncertainty, Bolshevism and even anarchy, disturb our people. We must get back to normal.
Sane, sober thinking must take the place of reckless agitation.

In England, the storm has broken and the constitutional government is on trial for its life. This storm must not break in America.

Our big problem is to steer a straight course. All the brains, calm judgement, cool-headedness and fair dealing that America possesses must be called into play.

Since the signing of the armistice, the Democratic Administration has failed utterly to allay this spreading unrest. In fact, by its policy of weakness, it has destroyed the confidence of the people. It has demonstrated its inability to meet this crisis.

While this storm was growing in fury, the Democratic Administration was engaged in settling world problems, neglecting entirely the pressing danger to our own national life.

The Wilson League of Nations, an ephemeral dream
as brought back from Paris, has consumed all of this Democratic Administration's time, all of its thought and action.

They have had no time for home affairs.

The business of this nation, the safety of our homes,
the perpetuation even of our constitutional form of government must be put in the hands of men whose feet are planted firmly upon the soil of America, and whose eyes can see the dangers ahead, instead of scanning the heavens for new stars.

We are proud that our nation is the greatest democracy that the world has ever known. But this democracy is to be tried by a test more severe than war—a test that shall try our moral courage.

And we will stand this test because the heart of America is sound and the judgement of American men and women is safe.

We must elect a Republican administration that will call into service the strongest minds and stoutest hearts of our nation to help in guiding our course to safety.

CANADIANS PROTEST
U. S. ARMED VESSEL

A protest was made to the Canadian government by the Kingston, Ontario branch of the Army and Navy Veterans that the U. S. coast guard cutter, Chillicothe, in prohibition service, was violating the treaty between the United States and Great Britain by cruising the St. Lawrence river with mounted guns. W. E. Reynolds, commandant of the coast guard service, denied that the vessel carried armament that would violate the provisions of the treaty. The treaty is intended to prevent either country from maintaining armed vessels in the border waters, but it permits boats to carry small arms for police purposes.

It is announced by the auditor for the federal receivers of Charles Ponzi, the Boston "financial wizard," that Ponzi can pay less than one dollar in three on the claims of his creditors. It will be recalled that this man promised 50 per cent profits in three months to those investing money in his "business" dealing with "foreign exchange" and the gullible victims of the "get rich quick" mania fell all over themselves in trying to "invest" their money. Ponzi's liabilities are $7,500,000 while his total assets have shrunk to only $2,200,000.

STRAY STREAKS

(By Fluke McFluke.)

Since Mrs. Tichenor has made Worth drag his weeds down and plow 'em under we can see Morris McCracken's new house from our office door.

A Bat Nail has been as scattering around this office during the past two or three weeks, as hen's teeth, which means that some one else has our sympathy.

Ernest Darkhead had Roll Riley do a bit of work for him a few days ago and when Riley presented his bill Birk, in an obliging sort of air, told Rol that he would give him credit by the amount on a coffin which he would need, not later in life, but after death!

This is no cold-water heave, but if the good Baptist Brethren could have found it convenient to waited until the election was plum over to start their meeting the field in which to operate for good endeavor would have probably been wider, deeper and longer, with more work to the square yard of surface.

Our wife has grown into a right smart politician, or whatever it is you call 'em when women take to the path. We have learned over again how to sweep and mop, wash and dry dishes, dress chickens and a whole lot of such things. Yes, something else has happened since July a year hence back the 'tother way. Things most sartainly do be changing and there has been a lot of new ideas and things, even long since heck was a purp.

The wife may do her part of the voting if she wants to—the dickens, of course she can, all of our friends know that alright, but what I meant to say was that I should not presume to interpose objections. I'll wash dishes, sweep, make beds and quite a good many other little insignificant jobs like those I will pull with tolerable regularity, but I say but, if she ever dares to undertake to do my fishin and huntin, there's going to be some real, shore-nuff trouble on the pike. And this is to be a sort of notice to that effect, as I somehow don't just quite like to say it to her face yet.

Why Suffer?

Cardui "Did Wonders for Me," Declares This Lady.

"I suffered for a long time with womanly weakness," says Mrs. J. R. Simpson, of 57 Spruce St., Asheville, N. C. "I finally got to the place where it was an effort for me to go. I would have bearing-down pains in my side and back — especially severe across my back, and down in my side there was a great deal of soreness. I was nervous and easily upset."

Disease-Free Seed Corn Yield Better
Seed corn that gave 100 per cent germination but showed infection by harmful organisms was matched against corn that showed no infection in a series of tests carried out by plant specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Indiana Experiment Station. The disease-free seed gave an increased yield of 10 to 20 per cent above its competitor.

Further results of the test seemed to prove that when corn was planted too thickly in hill or drill row it was more susceptible to disease than when better space was given it. In a similar test at Bloomington, Ill., the disease-free seed gave an increase of 23 per cent over the other corn, which was selected for high germination only. At Hoopeson, Ill., the difference, measured in tons, ranged from 0.01 ton to 1.5 tons in favor of the seed selected both for high germination and freedom from disease.

Bean Growers Cooperate Profitably in Marketing.

Not wooden shacks, but permanent structures of stone mark the prosperity of Mountsair, N. Mex. No oil has been found, nor yet rich mineral deposits. The community has simply struck beans!

Although pinto beans have been grown in New Mexico for a good many years, where the industry was spasmodic and unorganized, it was not until a year or so ago that the possibility of greater profit was realized. The field representative of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, informed the growers something of what had been accomplished by co-operative marketing associations thruout the United States, and assisted them in organizing the New Mexican Bean Growers' Association, which now embraces 14 local associations.

It has been conservatively estimated that as a result of co-operative selling $75,000 of additional profits were earned by the pinto-bean growers last year, and that they saved $7,500 alone thru the cooperative buying of hogs in carload lots. With a larger margin of profit for the efforts exerted by the producers, the future of the industry seems assured. Pinto beans are now being sold at 25 cents per hundred pounds in carload lots over quotations on C. H. P. navies.

FUR PRICES HIGH.

One case reported to the United States Department of Agriculture indicates how fur prices are advancing, with increased demand and decreasing supply. A man bought a mink-lined overcoat for $500 in 1915. Two years later he sold the mink lining for $1,000 and replaced it with nutria for $150. He wore it two years and sold the nutria lining for $250, putting in a muskrat lining that cost $55. In 1919 he sold this lining for $300 and still has the shell and $845 clear profit.

Move pullets into winter quarters before they begin to lay, the United States Department of Agriculture advises. All should be in winter quarters before cold weather. See that the henhouse is disinfected and that it is tight on three sides and that there is no chance for a draft to strike the hens while on their roosts.

Brown spot of corn is present thruout a large part of the corn-growing section east of the Rocky Mountains. The disease is caused by a minute fungous parasite. Damage may amount to 10 per cent, but is lower in most sections. Careful field sanitation, crop rotation, and seed selection are recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as an aid in controlling the disease.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA A GIANT NEW CRANE.

A mighty crane—said to be the largest in the world, has been built for the U. S. navy department at the Philadelphia shipbuilding yard. It has a lifting capacity of 350 tons at a point 50 feet from the tower and 50 tons at a reach of 190 feet. It stands 230 feet high and rests on a substantial pile foundation. The latter alone cost $120,000. The total weight of the steel structure above the foundation is 4000 tons and it cost $371,000.

A concrete counterweight weighing 314 tons is carried on the floor of the shorter arm of the cantilever section. On the upper part of the arm is built a large two-story house for the machinery. In this house which is 200 feet above the dock are 85 horsepower motors for operating the machinery. There are also gears, drums, etc., and a 35-ton crane which is used for handling the operating machinery.

The huge machine is so situated that it can be used to serve two ship-outfitting basins. It was designed specially to handle bulky, heavy parts of battleships, lowering them aboard new ships in the course of construction and lifting them out again when that is necessary for making repairs. It has been found decidedly advantageous to assemble the turrets and other heavy parts on the dock and then lower them into place on the dreadnaught. When repairs are necessary it saves a great deal of time and trouble simply to lift these parts out instead of taking them apart and carrying them out piecemeal.

The ponderous turrets of our biggest ships, with handling rooms attached, can be handled with comparative ease. Shipyards in England and in Germany have powerful cranes for doing similar work, but none of them has a capacity equal to this one of Uncle Sam's.

PORK GOES HIGH.

Baby Hawkeye Giant, the $10,000 hog, was royally received by a Des Moines hotel. Arriving in a large automobile the hog entered the hotel on carpets spread especially for the occasion and was registered by its guardian. Pictures were then taken of the distinguished guest and he was conveyed via elevator to the 10th floor, where he spent the night in a corner front room. Giant is eight months old and weighs 350 pounds and he is a valuable adjunct of the National Swine Show.

REFUSE TO ENDORSE LEAGUE

At the 30th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans held at Houston, Tex., the league of nations was brought to the fore. Motion was made to endorse the administration of President Wilson, express accord with the league of nations, and denounce the Republican party. The motion was tabled on the ground that it dealt with politics and therefore violated the policies of the organization. K. M. Van Zandt, commander, was re-elected without opposition.

FOUND QUEER AUTO TIRE

Although prohibition has got a fair hold on the nation by now, there are occasions when persons "see snakes" where least expected. Mr. Henry Ross, of Paris, Ky., and his wife were autoing along quietly when he saw what he thought was an automobile tire lying in the road. He stopped to pick it up but when almost upon it the "tire" straightened out and moved off into the bushes. It turned out to be a boa constrictor that had escaped from a near-by carnival.

WIDOW OF ROOSEVELT URGES ELECTION OF WARREN G. HARDING

In Statement Declares Country's Vital Need Is Victory for Republican Candidates.

FIRST BACK OWN COUNTRY.

Says Opportunity Has Come to Women to "Make Her Influence Mighty in Behalf of Nation."

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, widow of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, is evincing keen interest in the Republican campaign. She recently gave to the press the following statement urging the election of Harding and Coolidge:

"The country's vital need is the election of the Republican candidates

MRS. EDITH KERMIT ROOSEVELT

Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge. Only will the full measure of Americanism in the next Administration be attained, if the people shall decline for the party which holds true nationalism as its high ideal. It is not necessary to forget our duty to our neighbor in doing our duty at home.

"The time appeals most strongly to the manhood and the womanhood of America. To woman more than ever before because to her has come the perfect opportunity to make her influence mighty in behalf of the nation."

"This year as never before, with world conditions as they are, steadiness and staunchness of American purpose are obligatory if we would first bring back our country to its stable place and then by strong endeavor do all that can be done for peace and the general welfare in all lands."

REPUBLICANS INSURE ECONOMICAL CONDUCT

Washington.—Not one man in ten thousand realizes the enormous expenses run up by the present Government. The disbursements are roughly $15,000,000 a day, more than a year after the war. In 1914 the people expostulated because the daily disbursements by the Treasury had reached $2,000,000. How gladly would the people groaning under the impositions of profiteers and the burden of taxes welcome a return to those halcyon days of Congress and the new Administration will have to deal with the reduction of Government expenditures.

The same party that has swelled them returned to power will never reduce them, because it claims the government is being economically administered. The Republican party will delight in reducing these enlarged expenses for clerk hire, and the innumerable bureaus that have been built up into money spending machines. By holding in their hands all lines of expenditures the new Congress and new Executive working together will cut down excessive items and eliminate others to an aggregate of hundreds of millions of dollars.

NATION DEMANDS THOROUGH CHANGE

Chicago, Oct. —If one were required to name a single factor which is doing more than any other to work toward Republican success in November, he would probably have to say: Determination of the public to have a change and to get away from Wilsonism.

Reports from all quarters tell of this feeling, at once a desire for a change and a determination to bring it about at the polls November 2. Whether it be from the central west, the far west, the east or the south, the reports tell of this seeking for a change. The desire for a change is born of dissatisfaction, dislike and disgust felt by the voters toward the Wilson administration and the things it has done and left undone.

Mr. Cox is looked on as a man who if he were elected would follow the track of Mr. Wilson. In fact, he has declared himself in "complete accord" with Mr. Wilson.

The public, by all accounts, is not looking for a man who will go along with Mr. Wilson or the Wilson policies.

VICTORY MEDALS GO BEGGING

It is reported that only one in 10 men entitled to victory medals by virtue of service in the war has applied for the victory medal. Of the 2,757,624 men entitled to this bit of ribbon and broeze only about 380,000 have received it. "It is no more difficult to make out a form for the victory medal," says Gen. Harris, "than it is to fill out a money order blank. The ex-service man has only to apply to the nearest army post or recruiting officer or thru any particular patriotic society. Additional efforts are being made to reach all those entitled to these medals."

NO MINISTER TO WASHINGTON

As a result of the recent visit to Canada of Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador to the United States, it was decided that Canada is not to have a minister at Washington. One reason for the decision, it was reported, was that other British colonies had already expressed a desire for similar representation. It was feared that inefficiency might result from such plural representation, and it was decided that the colonies should continue to be represented by the British ambassador as in the past.

A businesslike man stepped into a butcher's shop. "A piece of beef for roasting!" he ordered, briskly.

"Oh, no, I ain't," said the butcher, blandly. "Ye're payin' for it!"

FLAGS HALF-MAST NOV. 14.

President Wilson has issued a proclamation calling for flying flags at half-mast at all forts and naval stations and on all public buildings thruout the land on Armistice day, which has been designated for Sunday, Nov. 14, this year. The armistice was the observance of this anniversary.

signed on November 11, 1918, but as it is largely the churches that will celebrate the signing of the armistice with memorial services it was thought best to set aside Sunday as the most convenient day. The president predicts that at some future time congress will by law set aside a day for 14, this year. The armistice was the observance of this anniversary.

OHIO COUNTY LADY ON LEAGUE ISSUE

Miss Daisy Wedding Gives Clear Cut Reasons For Opposition To Democrat's Ticket.

TO WOMEN VOTERS

If you were voting in a local election, I should ask you to vote for the MAN. In this National election I ask you to vote for the party which stands for the things in which you believe. In the present presidential campaign the platforms are as follows:

Republican—Conservative, Nationalism, Anti-League.

Democrat—Extreme Progressive, Internationalism, Pro League.

If your heart is big enough to take in ALL the nations of the world, including those whose history has meant nothing but quarrelling, war, blood-shed, over small pieces of ground, changing border lines, changing ruling houses, changing religion; nations that have been born and bred to warfare; nations whose idens and ideals and every instinct are so widely different from ours that we find it impossible to understand their motives; nations who believe in secret treaties, alliances, etc., then vote the Democratic ticket. Why, I firmly believe that the wonderful North American Continent was DIVINELY INTENDED for people of Europe and Asia who were TIRED and WORK with life as they had to live it in the old world, and who could see a chance for a NEW experiment in "Living among men" in this new world. Do you want to AMERICANIZE AMERICA? Or do you want to EUROPEANIZE AMERICA?

Personally I know very little about either Mr. Harding or Mr. Cox and that isn't worrying me a good deal. But I DO know something about the history of nations, and I know that America has perhaps today reached the greatest crisis in her life. We are not a nation of one people, one language, one race, one religion, one blood. Today our biggest problem is our many peoples. Our war with Germany has taught us that. If we get into a conflict with any other nation, we have a portion of that nation within our boundary lines. We MUST watch our step. We can't watch our step and join the League as other nations have accepted it.

You have heard of ARTICLE X until you are tired of it. Then take Article XI which says, in part, "Any war, or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the members of the League or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole League, and the League shall take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

It sounds almost exactly like the League of 1816. The Holy Alliance was formed by Alexander I, of Russia, the white angel, as opposed to Napoleon, the black angel. Alexander having few arms and less money, advocated an alliance based on Christian Brotherhood. Prussia and Austria joined, and any other nation might join when they became sufficiently holy, I suppose. These Holy Allies accepted Matternick's "doctrine of intervention," which stated in substance, that any revolution ANYWHERE "directly concerned" the European Congress. Austria was chosen to put down a revolution in Italy. You know why! France got the job of putting down a revolution in Spain. You know that President Monroe issued the Monroe Doctrine because of this Doctrine of Intervention.

I am not trying to make the point that the League would fail for the same reason that the Holy Alliance did—but I am objecting to the CLAUSE IN ARTICLE XI WHICH MAKES EVERY BACK DOOR SQUABBLE IN EUROPE OR ASIA "DIRECTLY CONCERN" THE UNITED STATES.

I am NOT for isolation. I don't want the United States to sit back and let other nations fight for the peace of the world. We should have gotten into this war before we did. But I want in the future to do as we have done in the past, go in if WE say so, and stay out if WE say so. I admit that we get some pretty biased, incoherent men in Congress sometimes, but I would rather risk men from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, New York, Ky., etc., than men from Czechoslovakia, China, Japan, Italy, the British Empire etc.

Let's go back to Article I which states that any member may after two years notice, withdraw from the League, "provided that all its international obligations and all its obligations under its Covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal."

WHO decides whether or not our obligations have been fulfilled? The Council. Do you want the COUNCIL to decide when WE have done our duty to the world?

Suppose we should get into trouble with Japan over the "Yellow Peril" question (and that is probable). The case moved to be taken before the Council. Both we and Japan, being parties to the dispute, would lose our votes. Do you want them, the other nations, to decide our immigration problems for us?

If we accept the League, we must accept THE LEAGUE—the league that other nations have accepted.

Personally, if the League isn't strong enough to MAKE us do things, it is worthless—as much so as the Articles of Confederation. If it IS strong enough to FORCE us to do things, I don't want it for I don't want to be forced by vote of other nations. I'm for Congress "with all its faults." Our president is a great man and he has done many great things, but the GREATEST THING HE HAS EVER DONE FOR THIS COUNTRY WAS HIS PROVING TO THE WORLD THAT ONE MAN CAN NOT RUN THINGS IN THE U. S. A.

Are we going to revise the Constitution of the United States (the experiment that Europe has waited for years to see how long it would last)? Are we going to revise that Constitution to the extent of replacing the sovereignty of Congress with the sovereignty of "The Council" of the Assembly?

BEADS ODDLY STRUNG

(By I. D. Claire.)

The old sheet looked really decent last week, without either "Beads" or "Streaks."

News paper notoriety is so distasteful to some people that they will even go to the extreme of marrying to get rid of it.

Let others do as they may, I am not going to taunt the Democrats with the ridiculous showing they are going to make at the polls Tuesday. Sometimes a thing can get too bad to joke about.

After the election the Democrats will charge their disaster up to Wilson, and I guess most folks are ready to agree they will be right about it.

I am that stupid that I am always doing the ridiculous. Starting to my boarding house for breakfast a few mornings ago, I stopped at the wrong house and did not discover the difference until I got back to the dining room. But I did worse than that Friday. I have two admit-to-everything tickets for the big carnival here this week and intended to run an ad in my paper for an old maid or a widow to hold out with me the whole week at the show, and clear and clean forgot it till after the paper was out.

Our Democratic friends are complaining they can not raise money to finance their campaign, but who in the dickens wants four years more like the past eight, badly enough to pay good money for it. According to Cox, the country wants a change thirty million dollars worth.

Harding may have changed his stand on the League of Nations seventeen times, but no American mother will charge him with favoring sending her son to the ends of the earth to fight for the territorial integrity or the political independence of Turkey or the Russian Reds.

That old familiar shout, "That Great Man in the White House" is no longer seen in the press or heard from the stump. And again is illustrated the insecurity of human greatness.

The year 1920 will long be remembered as the year of the big sorghum crop and the passing of Wilson and Beckham.

Regardless of the season, there will be an enormous crop of new postmasters next year.

Now for the lineup for the pie counter, and the Wilson administration have stacked the pie sky high.

Have you noticed any footers copied up ready for the celebration of the Cox victory Tuesday night?

Those women who will vote for Beckham after he voted to prevent them having the privilege of voting will offer the world a fine example of doing good for evil.
